DETAILED ACTION

1. The Examiner has carefully considered Applicant amendment and accompanying remarks filed January 21, 2003.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Takagi et al. (US 5,981,409) in view of Manabe et al. (US 4,816,124). Takagi et al. disclose fabric comprising a plaine weave fabric of synthetic filaments wherein warp yarns occupy 60-90% of the fabric surface (abstract). The filament denier is not larger than 5 denier and the yarn denier is in the range of 50 to 450 denier (col 4, ln 53-57). It is preferable to use polyester yarns as both the warp and weft (col 4, ln 64-65). Takagi et al. disclose the claimed invention except for the teaching that the fabric is coated with metal and that the weft makes up 40-80% of the fabric.

Manabe et al. disclose metal-coated fibrous objects comprising yarns and fibers wherein the metal is selected from silver, and copper (abstract). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have used Manabe's metal coating on the fabric of Takagi et al., motivated by the desire to create a fabric having increased waterproof properties.

It is the Examiner's position that optimizing the fabric surface occupancy of the weft as a constituent of the fabric is a result effective. For example, the more weft strands on the fabric surface directly affects the appearance of the fabric. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have used 40-80% of the weft on the fabric surface, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F. 2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980). In the present invention, one would have optimized the weft fabric surface occupancy motivated by the desire to create a tighter fabric that is more aesthetically pleasing.
